

Jan 24. 67.

Dear Elizabeth and Bill, I should have written you long ago to thank you for your letters
- of the 8 and 28 Dec - properly, but you will surely realize that this has been very difficult. I was deeply touched by the beautiful thoughts with which you honored my beloved Ann's memory, and I wish I could express my thankfulness in a worthy manner. I am still under a shock - Ann's passing away seemed so unnecessary and meaningless. I fully realize that death is - as you have written - literally, utterly forever.
But nevertheless it is very difficult to get reconciled with.

There is so much for which I have to thank Annie, and I can only hope that my feelings of deep gratitude for all the love she has given me will ~~be~~ suppress the acute pain and bitterness I now feel, as time moves on.

Dear Elizabeth and Bill, please forgive me for writing the above - I will not do this again, but my heart is weary.
I am thankful for having my large family - which still may have some use for me, - and I am also thankful for the work I still have in hand.

Now I wish you all that is good

Affectionately
Yours
